County lacks funding for jail furniture

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has discovered that there is no funding available at present for furniture for the new Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility.

According to a letter to the supervisors from Fred Wagner, the architect for the new jail, the total cost for necessary furniture will be about $45,000.

In addition, Wagner has offered his firm's services for writing bid specifications and coordinating design, color and fabrics to insure that they are compatible with the building, which is expected to open early next year.

The services have been offered at 10 percent of the total cost of the furniture and equipment specified.

Wagner's letter stated that the existing furniture "is inadequate and its condition embarrassing for use in a public building."

The furniture Wagner has listed includes desks, chairs, bookcases, files and other items for offices and public parts of the building.

Board Attorney Gerald Gex said he believes that the beds and other items for the cells fall under the category of equipment.

Because the $2.5 million bond issue passed for the jail included the wording, "to construct and equip," those items classified as equipment may legally be purchased with bond issue funds, the attorney said.

Gex said he is not certain whether the law will allow bond issue funds to be used for furniture, but believes doing so would be illegal.

He plans to check on the matter and report his findings to the board at Monday's meeting or at the Dec. 15 meeting.

Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise said the bond issue funds do not include enough money for the furniture anyway.

"A bond issue is really technical, but it's actually divided into two funds," Necaise explained.

He said one of the funds covers the bond issue itself while the other covers the actual expenses being incurred during construction. Providing for the furniture would require a transfer from one fund to the other.

Kellar disagrees

Supervisors change pay from salary to hourly for county road foremen

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has changed the manner in which its foremen are paid.

Board President A.A. Kellar said he disagrees with the change, which will take the foremen off salary and pay them by the hour, because he feels it constitutes a raise.

"It's a raise any way you look at it and this board agreed we wouldn't do that this year," Kellar explained.

Supervisors Roger Dale Ladner, Bert Courge and Sam Perniciaro disagreed with Kellar and all three voted to pay the foremen $5.53 per hour.

"I can't vote for that," Kellar said, casting the only no vote.

The fifth supervisor, James Travica, was not present when the matter came up because he had left the board early to go to Jackson, where he is overseeing construction of a building for Mississippi Association of Supervisors.

The matter came up during a discussion of overtime work reported for both foremen and equipment operators.

County Road Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson said the nature of the projects currently underway creates a need for overtime.

"You can't just leave at 3:30. You have to have the site and equipment ready for the next day's work," Johnson said.

Courge said he was concerned about the matter because the equipment operators, currently on hourly wages, were receiving overtime but the salaried foremen were not.

The foremen were working overtime anyway, which may be illegal, Courge added.

Kellar also disputed the need for overtime, saying that extra time one day should be taken off the next day.

"In 23 years, I never had to pay anyone overtime," he said.

Ladner said whether or not he disagreed with the need for overtime, he still felt a foreman should not be paid less than an equipment operator.

He also acknowledged a need for overtime in emergency situations.

"There will always be some overtime when roads are blocked after a storm or when a piece of equipment tears up and you can't leave it sitting there," Ladner said.

"Okay, there are emergencies, but we're not talking about those here," Kellar replied.

County Comptroller Ken Walker calculated the hourly rate based on the county's standard salary for a foreman.

He said the amount would not constitute a raise because the foremen would still have the same amount of regular pay each year.

In other business Wednesday, the board:

—Accepted a formal resolution from Bay St. Louis Ward One Councilman Lisa Coward asking for county assistance on Thomas Street;

—Accepted, with regret, the resignation of Jerry Seuzeneau from the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission;

—Discussed a correction of boundaries for the Hwy. 43 Community Center and Ballpark site that is not expected to affect the construction of the county's central maintenance barn on adjacent property;

—Purchased a station wagon for Bay-Waveland-Hancock County Civil Defense;

—Kept a dispute concerning the location and ownership of Harrison Road under advisement;

—Agreed to keep Charles Moran Jr., a county worker injured in a tractor accident Friday, on the county payroll until further notice;

—Agreed to advertise for bids on workman's compensation insurance;

—Authorized Johnson to look into the cost of installing plexiglass shields on county tractors to improve protection for the drivers;

—Heard a request from Geraldine Lang, representing Concerned Citizens of Hancock County, for appointment of a black representative to the Hancock General Hospital Board;

—Agreed to look into the possibility of using the Hancock County Fairgrounds Building as a community center once proposed heating and air conditioning systems are completed; and

—Requested that County Engineer Larry Seal stake the boundaries of the Beach Road right-of-way on the inland side from Washington Street to Bayou Cadet to show property owners where posts, fences and other obstacles should be removed from public property.

The board meets again at 9 a.m. Monday in the second floor boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

County names new vet's officer

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has selected a new veteran's service officer.

The new officer, Sandra Garber, was recommended to the board Wednesday by a representative of seven Hancock County veterans' organizations.

Henry Prevou, representing the county's American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts and Disabled American Veterans chapters, recommended Sandra Garber, who has served as interim officer since the resignation of Michael Ladner.

Prevou said 16 representatives of the veterans' groups had met Tuesday and agreed to recommend Garber on the contingency that they could submit a second recommendation "if things don't work out."

Garber will receive the same pay, about $1,001 per month, as Ladner.

Prior to Ladner's resignation, Garber had served as substitute officer when Ladner was attending out-of-town conferences.

Representatives of several of the veterans' groups had appeared before the board Nov. 2 to ask that their organizations be allowed to assist in the selection of a new officer.

According to one veteran, Jack Doyle, who addressed the board at that time, their main concern was finding someone familiar with the needs and problems faced by veterans.

SOME THOUGHTS ON THANKSGIVING

S.F.C. Spotlight wrote: "No Americans have ever deserved the designation 'underprivileged' so fully as the Pilgrims in November, 1620. They had no homes. They had no transportation but their shallow and their legs. They had little clothing but what was on their backs and what they could make from scarce materials. They had to get their food from the sea or the forest. They had no money that anyone could use in their location."

"They had no amusements but those they could invent. They had no neighbors but savages, who might at any time go on the warpath. They had no outside communication but letters from overseas that needed months for delivery."

"There they were—a tiny huddle in the wilderness with 3,000 miles of ocean between them and their accustomed comforts. They had none of the basic resources that even the most neglected families have today."

"But they were rich in the three greatest of all human assets—courage, a will to work unceasingly, and boundless faith in God. One who had told them that they were underprivileged would have probably ended in the stocks."

"They had no pity for themselves. They asked for no social security. Their sense of security came from the only dependable source. Their consciousness of need was only for continued strength to fetch and carry for themselves."

"We have come a long way from the dearths of the Pilgrim days. A much longer way from their riches."

Let us be thankful for our Lord who died that we might live. No other blessing compares to this gift, for which we must be thankful.

Often Christians sing, "I gave my life for thee, My precious blood I shed, that thou might'st ransom me, and quickened from the dead."

Christ laid down his life that I might be saved. He died in my place. I can understand why one person would die for someone he loved, but to die for his enemies is something else. (Romans 5:8)

How grateful we should be to have such a savior.

Let us be thankful for Christian homes where God is honored and where truth and righteousness are taught. Children are born by God's decree and plan. They are gifts from God. Eve stated, "I have gotten a man from the Lord."

There should be thanksgiving and praise to God for the birth of a child. This Thanksgiving should be a continual one for the blessings and joys of parenthood.

Neither should we dare to forget that our children are but ours in trust to be nurtured. (Ephesians 6:4)

Let us thank God for our homes and family communion. May God always be present and a welcome participant in our family councils and devotions.

Let us be thankful for the church which he purchased with his own blood. (Acts 20:28) All of us need the church in these days of stress and strain to give us peace and tranquility. The workshop and fellowship which we receive from the household of the Lord will equip us to face the future with faith and hope. Let us be thankful we are able to enjoy this fellowship.

Let us be thankful for the United States of America. May we be thankful for the benefits of freedom. The best way to insure the continuation of our freedoms is to exercise our freedom. The greatest freedom is to assemble to worship and practice God's will.

May every day be a day of thanksgiving. Let us be thankful we live in a nation that encourages its citizens to express thanksgiving.

Fountain installs historical windmill at Bay residence

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Although uncommon to this area, very few travellers on North Beach Boulevard should have trouble recognizing a new landmark.

"It's part of American history," says Pete Fountain of his 1902 windmill recently installed at his Bay St. Louis residence.

Fountain, an internationally acclaimed jazz clarinetist, has several intended uses for the windmill including churning butter, serving as a shoreline beacon and supporting a swing.

"In spite of the rumors, I am not planning to generate electricity for the first floor of the house," he said. Fountain plans to put white Christmas lights which will remain year round on the 40-foot high windmill tower.

On a clear night people may even be able to see the windmill from the Bay Bridge, he said.

Fountain plans to attach the rod on the windmill which was originally utilized to pump water from the ground, to a swing beneath the base. It will be a lazy man's swing, he said jokingly.

Fountain also says he probably will use this also to churn butter. The windmill was a gift to Fountain by Phil Harris, actor, comedian and musician.

"Phil had previously had the windmill at his ranch in Rancho Mirage, Calif.," Fountain said.

The base of the windmill is an original United States weather stand which was located at St. Stanislaus before 1948.

Fountain said he found the stand in Kiln where it was not being used. The stand is on a 25X25 cement slab in front of the house.

"When the cement was being poured Beverly said she didn't know if she should kiss Phil or kill him," Fountain said.

It does seem to take up a lot of the front yard, he added.

Bernie and Clifton Piazza put together the windmill which came in "many, many pieces," Fountain said.

It took nearly two years to get everything ready and get the windmill installed.

Fountain said he wasn't sure of the total installation costs but he did intend to send the bill to Harris, because "gifts should come complete."

Slidell Memorial Hospital develops centralized testing

Slidell Memorial Hospital is "putting it all together" for patients who need ultrasound, mammography, cardiology and peripheral vascular tests, but who don't need to be admitted to the hospital.

The innovative concept is an "Ambulatory Diagnostic Center," a centralized area in the hospital where numerous tests can be performed on an outpatient basis with maximum convenience to the patient. The system also provides an efficient use of personnel and equipment because the diagnostic areas are grouped together.

The Ambulatory Diagnostic Center concept was developed at the hospital earlier this year. It includes four main areas: cardiology, breast center, ultrasound testing, and peripheral vascular studies. Peripheral vascular studies check the flow of blood through the patient's arteries. All of these examinations involve "non-invasive" techniques—studies that can be done without injections, needles, etc.—and can be done on an outpatient basis.

The four areas are linked by a common reception area to allow patients who need more than one test quick and easy access to the next facility. In addition, the Ambulatory Diagnostic Center is located near other diagnostic and surgical areas so patients who need additional testing or procedures can be afforded easy access to these areas, as well.

"We sometimes have patients who come in for a mammography exam who may also require an ultrasound test," explained Dr. Wayne Henry, who is medical director of the Ultrasound and Breast Center units. "With the Ambulatory Diagnostic Center, these patients can just go next door."

"It's also convenient to ambulatory surgery, in case we have to perform procedures to determine if we need to do a biopsy," he noted.

The Breast Center provides screening facilities for breast masses or lumps. Patients can be referred by a physician, or come in themselves if they need a baseline screening or want to have a suspected mass checked by screening. Decorated in soothing tones with comfortable furnishings, the suite is designed to make anxious women feel more at ease while awaiting the test or results.

Next door is the ultrasound suite. Here, ultrasound testing is used for OB/GYN evaluations, abdominal testing, or further breast studies.

Is there anything tastier, hours and hours after the Thanksgiving Feast, than a cold turkey sandwich, liberally spread with cranberries and cold stuffing, munched in contentment late on Thanksgiving night? If there is, I'd like a taste!

It's the best way ever to start using up the leftovers from the feast. You'll have to think up other ones, of course, for those same diners who happily surround the "groaning board" at Thanksgiving dinner are apt to do a bit of "groaning" themselves as the turkey makes more and more repeat appearances at the table.

Of course, after you cut all the meat from the carcass, or most of it and any rate, and reserve the carcass for turkey soup or broth or gumbo, you'll probably package and freeze some turkey for later use.

Perhaps you'll cook up a turkey hash or creamed turkey or turkey with pasta or whatever, according to your tastes and what your household will accept.

Incidentally, if you're planning to serve slices of turkey with gravy for another meal, don't reheat the meat. Just bring the turkey to room temperature, heat the gravy and ladle over the turkey slices—that way, the meat remains fresher-tasting and juicier.

A favorite recipe of mine, not just to use up leftover turkey, but as a tasty dish throughout the year, sometimes made with chicken slices or pieces, is:

TURKEY DIVAN

Several slices, or two cups cubed cooked turkey

2 bunches (or 2 packs frozen) broccoli
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup flour
2 cups milk
2 Tbsp. grated Parmesan cheese
Generous dashes of hot pepper sauce, Worcestershire, pepper, lemon juice, salt (optional)
Splashes (a jigger or so) brandy or sherry

Make a cream sauce of the butter, flour and milk. Meanwhile, place barely cooked broccoli (1 steam mine in just a smidgin of water for a very few minutes) in the bottom of a casserole, or shallow dish if you prefer, and top with the turkey slices or pieces.

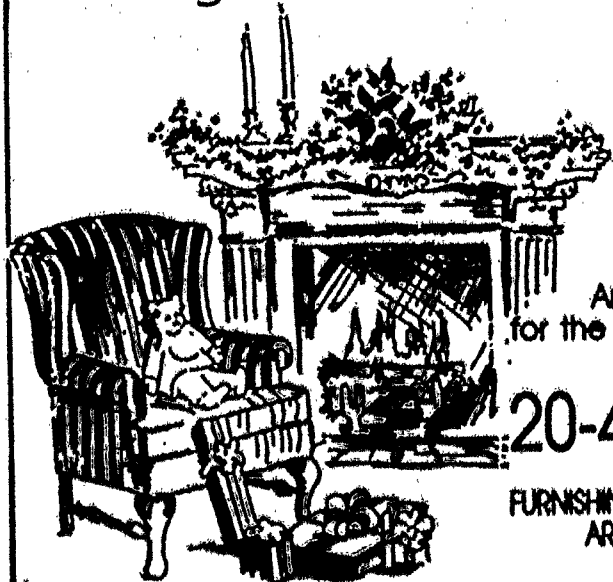

Pour over this the sauce laced with the seasonings and brandy or sherry. Top with seasoned bread crumbs and Parmesan cheese. Pop into a 350 degree oven for a half hour or a bit more, and serve with crusty French bread (hot, of course) and a green salad.

Or, if you're a bit lazy or rushed for time, mix a can of cream of mushroom or chicken soup with a half cup of mayonnaise and a dash of lemon juice, along with the seasonings. Pour over the turkey and broccoli and top with crumbs and cheese—and don't forget the spirits! For an extra tastiness, pop under the broiler just before serving, for a browned-cheese crust. (Six servings.)

I often add chopped green onions and celery and parsley to my sauch for extra taste.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—More than two weeks after the Nov. 4 general election, the official returns in the historic Second Congressional district race were finally made public by the secretary of state's office.

The long time-lapse between the election and promulgation of the result was not the fault of Secretary of State Dick Mopus' efficient office staff.

It was, again, Mississippi's archaic election system at its typical snail's pace. The official returns from each of the county election commissions and circuit clerks came dribbling in as though we were back in the 1880s, rather than the 1980s.

Why the state has allowed vote-counting, and its voter registration system to remain in an ox-cart era at this late date is beyond comprehension. Modern technology which could greatly improve the election process has been available for years and is no longer expensive.

The antiquated vote counting in Mississippi begins with the fact that 47 of the 82 counties in the state are still using paper ballots which must be individually counted.

Way back in the 1950s, then Gov. J.P. Coleman tried to require voting machines to be used statewide and failed. The cop-out of the Legislature was the state didn't have the money to buy them. And the counties said they couldn't afford them.

So, for three decades, we've had a local option system on how votes are cast or tabulated, which depended on the progressiveness of the individual county supervisors.

Needless to say, most supervisors wouldn't spend money on voting machines or vote recorders. They would rather buy a pickup truck or a few more grader blades.

Miracle of miracles, under the 1986 election reform act (which is still awaiting Justice Department approval), every county will have to have voting machines or automatic vote recorders by January 1, 1989.

But don't hold your breath that it's going to happen by the time designated in the law. Before then, there will be a loud hue and cry from counties which still have paper ballots that they don't have the money to buy machines, and the old stall will be on.

However, this could be a great opportunity for Mississippi to go to electronic vote tabulation which South Carolina recently adopted.

Through a joint effort by the State of South Carolina and counties which still used paper ballots, 340 new-type voting devices which use a pressure sensitive board (similar to the contents of a more sophisticated microwave oven) to record votes were installed in 173 precincts for the Nov. 4 election. The devices were plugged into the computer main frame located in the State Election Commission in Columbia.

A spokesman for the South Carolina election agency told me that within 25 minutes after the polls closed most of the results from the 173 precincts were recorded and in a little over two hours, all were complete.

The machines cost $4,000 each, of which the state of South Carolina put up 70 percent and the counties the rest. One major saving of the pressure sensitive board devices is there's no need to print ballots.

This is the latest step by South Carolina to install an efficient statewide voting system. For the past several years, that state has had a statewide voter registration system whereby each county's rolls are tied by computer into the State Election Commission office.

Voter rolls of each county are maintained in the state office, with the individual counties providing only new registrants' names, or corrections in addresses. The voter rolls are constantly purged for deaths and other deletions by the state office.

Right now, Mississippi's voter registration rolls, statewide, are in shambles because they are maintained individually by the counties, few of which have kept the lists purged or updated.

There are some 1,650,000 voters registered in the state, according to figures furnished to the secretary of state's office by the individual county circuit clerks.

That figure, according to an analysis this writer made, based on voting age populations of the counties, contains some 200,000 to 250,000 "phantom voters" who no longer exist.

A bill to establish a state register of voters in the secretary of state's office, with each county tied in by computer, was part of the Election Reform package in the 1986 session of the Mississippi Legislature. But it was pulled at the last minute because the Legislature couldn't find $1.5 million to implement it.

All counties are supposed to have their voter rolls purged by Jan. 1, 1988, under a law which became effective in Jan., 1984.

That law says any person who has not voted within the four year period from 1984 to 1988 will be removed from the rolls, after proper notice.

Maybe we're going to at last get some authentic voter registration figures in Mississippi.

But like everything else here, that remains to be seen.

Thanksgiving Myth

(The following article resulted from a grant from the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities to the Mississippi Press Association. The opinions expressed are those of the author and not of either organization.)

By Dennis Mitchell
History

Jackson State University
Debunking history is fun and there is no end to it. People insist on believing the most outlandish and ridiculous stories about the past.

Parson Weems' George Washington and the cherry tree is only the most famous. One of my favorites is the Thanksgiving myth.

The myth is that the Pilgrims, after surviving a hard winter and then harvesting a bumper crop, invited the Indians over for a meal and prayers. That is true to a point. It happened the second year. The first Thanksgiving, however, was true to its pagan origins than to the sober Puritan version.

Thanksgiving originated among the Druids, the builders of Stonehenge and worshippers of oak trees, as religious ceremony to celebrate the harvesting of each year's crop.

When the Pilgrims came to America, harvest home was an ancient custom of rural England which included a large meal and rejoicing for good crops.

In the 17th century, everyone, including town dwellers, took part in the rush to get the food harvested before winter began. In a sense the harvest home was a part of each laborer's pay.

After crops were in, the farmer's wife and all his servants prepared a huge meal consisting of the greatest possible variety of meats, cheese, vegetables, and drinks.

Everyone was invited and, in an age when the laborer lived on a normal diet of bread and beer, this was a welcome celebration.

Toasts were drunk and food consumed in a holiday atmosphere less religious in a Christian sense than a pagan one. The emphasis was on the joy of life assured by the food stored for the winter about to come.

The Pilgrims brought this tradition with them to America. They arrived in the winter of 1620-21 and of the 102 who settled a Plymouth, only 44 lived to see the New England spring.

That summer with the help of local Indians, they planted crops including Indian maize, which would mean life or death for them the next winter.

Much to their relief, the fields flourished. In the fall, they celebrated their success and their survival by inviting their Indian friends to a traditional "harvest home." They drank green wine in abundance. They ran foot races. They fired their guns. In short, they behaved like normal human beings rejoicing in their escape from death.

The next summer was not so kind to them. At the crucial point of the growing season, a drought struck. The sobered Pilgrims, facing the renewed possibility of starvation, went to church and prayed non-stop until the rains came to save their fields.

Following that narrow escape, the second New England harvest home was a somber affair with an emphasis on prayer and praise for the merciful God who spared them by breaking the drought. It is the one that Americans have remembered and modeled a national holiday on.

The first Thanksgiving may not be important. Most people will go on believing that the founding mothers and fathers were the superior beings who are depicted in countless pageants and school plays.

What I like about this story, and debunking in general, is the reminder that the long-dead people of history and myth were just human beings after all. They were products of a complex culture that was Christian but still slightly Druid too.

But, most of all they were motivated by the same very human nature which seems to change little over time or among cultures. They hoped. They feared. They enjoyed too just like we do now and just as the Druids did hundreds of years ago.

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

Governor Bill Allain Monday recommended a balanced state budget to the 1987 Legislature with no new taxes and within the $1.516 billion recommended by the Fiscal Management Board and the Joint Legislative Budget Committee.

The Governor's executive budget includes funding to implement the recommendations of the State Personnel Board regarding state employee salary realignment, the establishment of new positions, and the deletion of long-term unfilled vacancies; funding for the $1,000 pay increase for public school teachers; additional funding for the Bureau of Narcotics to bring the state to 82 drug agents in the field, representing one agent per county; additional funding for textbook purchases; funding increases for the Department of Public Safety and law enforcement; and increased funding for economic development.

Other agencies would be funded at FY87 levels; Governor Allain said, provided the revenue estimate stays at its present projections. However, the Governor noted that three factors could cause this year's revenue estimate possibilities to have a greater range than in previous years.

Those factors include the new federal tax law, the impact of Congressional budget cutbacks, and the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings targets for deficit reductions.

Governor Allain told the legislators in a letter mailed with the budget recommendations that, if any of these factors result in additional funds for the state, he would recommend priority consideration be given to added funding for universities, junior colleges, textbooks, mental health, public health, corrections and economic development.

His budget also recommends funding the Highway Department at its requested level. While he does not recommend a specific highway construction program as part of the budget, he said, "We recognize the need for a highway construction program in the state and are developing a plan for recommendation to the Legislature."

Also in reference to the Highway Department, the Governor recommended using $12 million removed from the department's authorization during the summer special session to help with state building repairs and renovations.

The Governor continued to request that legislators place all state funds into one single fund, ending the practice of earmarking special funds and general funds. "I still feel strongly that all state money should be placed into a single fund so that all agencies, regardless of the source of their funds, are treated equally and without preference."

The Governor noted that state agencies requested some $241 million in general funds above the FY87 level during budget hearings. Of that amount, the Governor's budget includes $55 million of those increases, leaving $186 million in agency requests unfilled. "What portion of these requests are essential remains to be determined," Governor Allain said.

"The needs of the state are many. But we still have not completed the work begun during the 1986 session to establish defined priorities for state spending. We must fund the essential priorities and determine which other spending should occur through fees, or even through the private sector."

"Only then can we talk about additional revenue from the taxpayers."

Parent supports school discipline policies

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

It is not unusual to hear parents complaining about discipline problems in school. Of course, there are going to be problems in this area.

What has to be realized is that a child is not going to get a spanking in school for one minor offense. One or two children who are causing problems in class should not be allowed to get away with disruptive behavior.

It is not fair to the children who are cooperating with their teachers. One disruptive child can hold back an entire classroom if the child is not disciplined.

Let's be fair to our teachers and let them do their jobs. My children attend Gulfview School and enjoy being there. I have no complaints about the discipline program there, and I totally support it.

It relieves me to know that my children will not be allowed to run rampant at school, when they are basically well behaved at home.

I think that it's time for parents to support the teachers and realize that it's not an easy job they have.

And let's remember that discipline begins at home. Our children need to learn self-control and responsibility, and if someone is concerned enough to discipline our children in order to help them understand, then I am grateful.

An educational system that does not enforce discipline is bound to fail, and no one wants that.

Grannie's nut cake was spiked

Nut cake, chock-full of pecans and raisins, accented with spices and molasses and wrapped in bourbon cloth, was a family tradition started by Tusie Coats of Grenada in the early part of this century.

Today her granddaughter, Pat Coats Ragland of Mandeville, La., carries on that tradition and shares it with families across the United States and abroad.

"The only time whiskey was allowed in my grandmother's house was during the holiday season," Ragland says. "She was a teetotaler, but every November she sent my grandfather into the next county to the bootlegger for whiskey for her nut cakes."

"Even the most temperance-minded of her friends and relatives could not abstain from her cake—hearty with pecans and raisins and laced with that 'really good vanilla.'"

The Tusie Coats Nut Cake with Bourbon that was baked in a wood-burning stove in those days is now being produced at Ragland Bros. Northshore Bakers in Mandeville and placed in decorative tins and gift boxes. Each cake is still individually wrapped in muslin moistened with bourbon.

You can start your own family tradition with these cakes. They are available in 2-, 3-, and 5-pound decorative tins and a 1½-pound loaf cake packed in an attractive gift box. Prices range from $9.25 to $37.50. Delivery can be arranged immediately, or specified for the Thanksgiving, Christmas or Hanukkah season. To order, call Ragland Bros. at 1-800-225-4184.

Medical society recommends steps to curb prescription abuse

A report identifying the nature and extent of prescription drug abuse in Mississippi has been presented to Governor Bill Allain by Mississippi State Medical Association President-elect W. Lamar Weems, MD, of Jackson.

The report makes several recommendations for improving Mississippi's ability to control prescription drug abuse.

Represented in the report is the work completed by more than a dozen state agencies and health care professional associations during the past year on the Prescription Abuse Data Synthesis (PADS) Project.

PADS was developed by the American Medical Association to identify prescription drug diversion problems at the state level. "The project was begun in April, 1986 after the Mississippi State Medical Association requested technical assistance from the AMA in implementing the PADS project," said Dr. Weems.

Three of the report's recommendations are designed to improve the regulation of the prescribing and dispensing of prescription drugs.

The report recommends increasing the investigative capacity of the Board of Medical Licensure, to be funded by an increase in medical license fees.

In addition, the report suggests that the laws concerning appeals of regulatory board actions be changed to enhance the board's ability to protect the public.

The report also calls upon Governor Allain to urge the Board of Medical Licensure to adopt regulations concerning physician dispensing of prescription drugs.

The PADS report seeks the governor's support for legislation that would place the drugs Nubain and Stadol in the schedules of controlled drugs.

The PADS Policy group urged the governor to appoint a Prescription Drug Abuse Task Force to continue the work begun in the PADS Project.

The PADS Project was coordinated by the PADS Policy Group. The Policy Group membership included the associations of all health care professionals who prescribe, dispense or administer prescription drugs, as well as all of the state agencies that regulate those professions, treat and prevent drug abuse, enforce drug laws or pay for prescription drugs.

The recommendations made by the Policy Group were developed after studying the work performed by two subgroups. The PADS Technical Group performed a statistical study of the nature and extent of the prescription drug abuse problem in Mississippi.

The PADS Regulatory/Enforcement Group inventoried the resources and procedures to control diversion of prescription drugs.

This group also performed a series of investigations of suspicious prescribers and dispensers of these drugs.

The following agencies and organizations participated in the PADS Project:

Mississippi State Medical Association, Mississippi Impaired Professionals Program, Mississippi Department of Health, Governor's Office of Federal State Programs, Department of Planning and Policy, Office of the Attorney General, and Mississippi Board of Dental Examiners.

Also, Mississippi Board of Medical Licensure, Mississippi Board of Nursing, Mississippi Board of Pharmacy, Mississippi Board of Veterinary Examiners, Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics, Mississippi Department of Safety, and Mississippi Department of Mental Health-Division of Alcohol/Drug Abuse.

And, Mississippi Hospital Association, Division of Medicaid-Office of the Governor, Mississippi Nurses' Association, Mississippi Pharmacists Association, Mississippi Veterinary Medical Association, and United States Drug Enforcement Administration.

Lung association offers unique Christmas Seals

The 1986 Christmas Seals are unique. The design features Kristy Koala, the new American Lung Association mascot, perched in a Christmas stocking, peeping through a holly wreath, carrying a bag of gifts and decorating a pint-size Christmas tree.

Christmas Seals exemplify the holiday spirit of giving and caring and Christmas Seal gifts fight lung diseases, both acute and chronic, that affect Mississippians of all ages, in all walks of life.

Lung disease, an ever-growing problem in America, is the only major disease category in which death rates continue to rise. Twenty-nine percent of our population suffers from chronic respiratory illnesses ranging from the mild to severe.

Lung diseases, including lung cancer, kill over 245,000 Americans each year, and lung cancer in women is increasing at an alarming rate. All lung and respiratory diseases combined are the third leading cause of death in the U.S. today.

Christmas Seal contributions are working to prevent the premature death and disability caused by lung diseases. Cigarette smoking causes 80 to 90 percent of deaths from chronic obstructive pulmonary diseases such as emphysema and chronic bronchitis.

Other lung diseases—including respiratory distress syndrome (RDS) in infants and acute respiratory distress syndromes (ARDS) in adults—are still not fully understood and require additional research to find improved means of prevention and treatment.

Christmas Seals were first used in 1904 to fight tuberculosis. Today they provide a wide range of services to fight over 200 lung diseases and related health hazards, including smoking, air pollution and occupational lung hazards.

In Mississippi, Christmas Seal gifts provide medicine and oxygen for adults and children who suffer with lung disease, advanced pulmonary medical training for physicians and other medical personnel and also provide medical research grants to probe causes and cures of lung problems.

Christmas Seals are little miracles. Make each gift and holiday letter complete this year by using Christmas Seals and showing support of the Christmas Seal crusade of Mississippi Lung Association.

Lionel Richie to appear in Biloxi concert

Lionel Richie will appear at Biloxi's Coast Coliseum on Saturday, Nov. 29. The scheduled appearance will be part of Richie's "Outrageous Tour," the singer's first in two years.

The show Lionel brings to Biloxi will be a parade of hits. Besides Richie being the first performing artist to ever achieve nine number 1 singles, nine years in a row, the Tuskegee native's newest album—Dancing On The Ceiling—kicked off with the first single of 1986 to enter the charts in the Top 40.

When it comes to statistics, Lionel has compiled enough of them to keep the folks at The Guinness Book of Records in a tizzy. He's had number one songs for more years in a row than any other singer/songwriter in history. He's won the People's Choice Award for Best Song five years in a row; he's won six American Music Awards in 1985 alone! And he's the first artist ever to win a Grammy and an Oscar in the same year for two separate songs.

But the facts have very little to do with Lionel Richie's appeal. The LA Times' Robert Hilburn, of Lionel's LP, "the soul of the album is in the growth and adventure...as Richie weaves a yearning for social responsibility and justice into statements of rejoicing and hope that can be called his own politics of celebration." And those qualities come across with particular force in Lionel's concerts. As The New York Times said, "Mr. Richie's rousing performance... suggested that he has the potential to be much more than a sentimental ballader."

Checking mail order foods protects against accidents

Anyone who plans to order meat and poultry through the mail for the holidays should have a checklist handy to avoid possible food poisoning.

Although mail order food shippers have an excellent safety record, hazards do exist, according to Barbara P. McLaurin, a food and nutrition specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"Despite a tremendous sales volume, mail order food shippers have food safety down to a science," Ms. McLaurin said. "But a delay in shipment might cause frozen items to thaw, or an accidental breakage of packaging could lead to spoiled food."

With turkeys, game birds, hams, sausages and other meats expected to be in big demand this year, knowing what to look for when food arrives offers protection against a potential accident.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Safety Inspection Service has a list of suggestions to keep mail-order holiday foods as safe as possible.

"If you receive a mail-order meat or poultry product that should be cold or frozen and it isn't, or it shows other trouble signs like a swollen can or off-odor, don't even taste it," Ms. McLaurin said. "Spoiled food, even a small amount, can make you sick."

She suggests refrigerating the item, if possible in the original container, and calling the local Extension home economist or calling USFAS toll-free meat and poultry hotline, 1-800-535-4555 weekdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., for advice on what to do.

Smoked turkey, a holiday favorite, is usually vacuum-wrapped and shipped ready to eat. It is shipped frozen or nearly frozen. When the turkey arrives, it should still be frozen or at least as cold to the touch as meat in the refrigerator.

"If it's warm, has an off-odor, or a slimy or slippery feel, it could be contaminated with food poisoning bacteria," Ms. McLaurin said. "Don't eat it."

Turkey that is still frozen on arrival can be stored in the freezer for about six months without loss of quality. If the meat is cold but not frozen, refrigerate and use it within a week.

Wild turkeys and game birds such as partridge and pheasant are usually frozen fresh and shipped with ice packs or dry ice to keep them frozen for overnight delivery. If they arrive defrosted but still cold, refrigerate no more than a day or two before cooking. If they are still frozen, they can be stored in the freezer up to six months.

Depending on how mail-order hams are processed, some need to be kept cold, while others can be kept at room temperature. Check the label for handling directions.

Country hams are dried and cured and can be mailed unrefrigerated in paper or cloth wrapping. A country ham's salt content and dryness allow it to be stored for months without refrigeration. But, refrigeration after slicing does help maintain a country ham's quality.

Some canned hams are heat-processed in the can under high temperatures and therefore can be stored on a cabinet shelf for months. Other canned hams cooked at lower temperatures should be stored in the refrigerator. Once opened, all canned hams should be kept refrigerated.

"If a mail-order ham labeled 'keep refrigerated' isn't cold when it arrives, send it back," Ms. McLaurin said. "Also, examine the can to make sure it is now swollen or dented and that the seams are tight. If the can is swollen, don't even open it."

Mail-order beef, pork and lamb are usually shipped frozen. These items are often shipped with dry ice, which may evaporate by the time the meat arrives.

If the meat has started to thaw by the time you receive it, it can be refrozen as long as it is still frozen hard at the center. If the meat is completely thawed but still as cold to the touch as refrigerated meat, it can be stored safely one to two days in the refrigerator.

"If you notice a color variation in some mail-order red meats that have been vacuum packed, don't be alarmed," Ms. McLaurin said. "Vacuum packing removes the oxygen that gives fresh meat a bright-red tint. Vacuum-packed meats may have a maroon color."

Proper mailing and storage temperatures for sausages depend on how they are made.

Dry, fermented sausages like pepperoni and hard salamis don't require refrigeration. They've been cured, fermented and dried, sometimes for weeks. After a few months at room temperature, however, the fat in these sausages can become rancid, or harmful molds can develop on the surface. In either case, throw the sausage out.

Semi-dry sausages like some Thüringer, summer sausage and Lebanon bologna may or may not be shipped cold. Check the label. If it says "keep refrigerated," the sausage should be cold on arrival.

"After opening, all semi-dry sausages should be refrigerated because they aren't dried or acidified enough to make them safe at room temperatures," Ms. McLaurin said.

Drug dog scores zero in Pass school search

A school district drug dog was used on Friday, Nov. 14 to search Pass Christian High School, Pass Christian Middle School, Pass Christian Elementary School and DeLisle Elementary School for drugs.

The dog was accompanied by personnel from the Harrison County Sheriff's Department, the Pass Christian Police Department, and principals of the individual schools.

All lockers, cars and parking lots were sniffed by the drug dog and the results of the findings in all schools were negative.

The use of the drug dog in the Pass Christian Schools is part of the planned program of activities in the school district during the 1985-87 school term to ensure that the schools have a drug-free environment, according to Leroy Lizana, superintendent.

Students in all four schools were informed at the beginning of the school year at school, as well as in their student handbooks, that the drug dog would be used this year and that the visits would be unannounced.

Additional periodic unannounced searches and inspections for drugs will be conducted during the remainder of the year, Lizana added.

In addition to the drug dog, the students in the sixth grade science classes at Pass Christian Middle School participate in the "Meology Program" in which volunteer instructors come to the schools and provide the students with information about harmful effects on drugs.

Some of the recent research publications dealing with "what works" to decrease the incidence of drugs in schools is presently being studied by school district personnel.

The school district hopes to devise and implement a plan for schools without drugs. It is believed that the use of the drug dog will assist the school personnel in attaining this goal, the superintendent noted.

The tree will be decorated for a lighting ceremony on Sunday that will follow the Chamber Christmas Parade. Chamber Director Olivia Milner said dignitaries presiding at the ceremony will include Board of Supervisors President A.A. Kellar, Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. and Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr., in addition to Santa Claus and Mrs. Santa Clause. Several choirs will be on hand to provide music. ## Waveland zoning board studying subdivision request

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Planning and Zoning Board has taken under advisement a proposed subdivision until more information is obtained about a road easement.

The property, located on Beach Road adjacent to Buccaneer State Park and separated from the Gulfside Assembly property by two residential lots, is owned by George W. Cole.

Cole was turned down last year when he requested permission to put a trailer park on the property, which is zoned for single family residences.

The proposal submitted to the board for Monday's public hearing calls for the property to be divided into nine lots measuring 80 feet by 133 feet each.

The lots will be sold for construction of single family residences, according to Bobbie Boyd of Nell Frisbie Realty, who represented Cole at the meeting.

The plans also call for construction of a proposed road starting at the Beach Road and allowing access to Sears Avenue and South Street.

The developer will have to pay for the extension of city utilities into the site, which will cost about $80,000, Boyd said.

The improvements must be made before the lots can be sold.

Also addressing the board were three owners of adjacent property, all of whom expressed concern about the quality of homes that might be constructed in the proposed subdivision.

One of the landowners was also concerned that 10 feet needed for a road easement might be on his property, but Boyd said it is possible that the developer would consider constructing a narrower road measuring 40 feet across.

The board took the request under advisement in order to check the amount of easement needed for a narrower road.

In other business, the board agreed to recommend that the Waveland Board of Aldermen grant a 15-foot rear yard variance for the Edward F. Sens property on Davis Street. The variance is needed to make room for a proposed house and can be granted under a grandfather clause, Chairman Charles Dickson said.

The board also agreed to recommend that the aldermen take whatever action is needed to prevent the construction or installation of barricades on Beach Road.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has already voted to ban such barricades within the road right-of-way, which is county property.

Although the city does not control the right-of-way, the aldermen could vote to endorse the action of the supervisors with regard to the barricades.

Beat Four Supervisor Sam Periclaro said he had requested the ban on barricades, including ropes, pillars, posts, fences and other structures, because they keep people from parking their vehicles on public property.

He said he has become concerned about the traffic hazards resulting from vehicles parked in the roadway itself.

Suspects caught by business owner

BY BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Two alleged burglars were foiled Wednesday at American Restoration when the owner of the business caught them apparently in the act of breaking into his establishment.

Owner Richard Hargrove held a juvenile at gunpoint until police arrived, according to Bay Detective Chuck James.

Joseph Scott Langlois, 19, of Route 3, Box 512, Shoreline Park, who was allegedly waiting outside for the youth was arrested and charged with burglary.

The juvenile was turned over to the custody of youth court, James said.

A prybar, flashlight and seabag were confiscated by arresting officers David Sellier and Richard Hanna.

MOTORCYCLE RECOVERED

In an unrelated incident, police recovered a motorcycle on Bouslog Street late Wednesday afternoon which was reported stolen approximately a month ago from BaySide Park.

James said there have been no arrests and the matter is still under investigation.

International hydrographic training conducted at NSTL

Twenty-two international students recently graduated from the Naval Oceanographic Office's Hydrographic Cooperation Program training course at the National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County.

Their participation and achievement in the six-month course has made Mississippi and Louisiana more than just spots on the map to numerous households and organizations in 13 countries worldwide.

Navoceano has conducted a formal international training program in hydrography and oceanography since 1952, but this class is the first at NSTL since 1981.

Its purpose is to give the student a practical knowledge of hydrographic surveying and skill in performing various hydrographic tasks.

Designed to meet the requirements for "Class B" certification prescribed by the International Hydrographic Organization in Monaco, the program also seeks to foster friendship among nations.

The course is open to both military and civilians and can accommodate up to 22 students. Mathematical ability through trigonometry and 70 percent English comprehension is required for admission, with all students tested prior to acceptance. Classes are conducted at NSTL and on Gulf Coast beaches and waters.

The curriculum includes mathematics, physics, geodesy, hydrography, oceanography, navigation, cartography, and law of the sea.

Instructors for the training program are drawn from professional organizations throughout the country including Navoceano, the Coast Guard, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the Defense Mapping Agency, and the University of Southern Mississippi.

While enrolled, the students also participated in two additional activities - the Information Program and the Sponsor Program.

Designed by the Department of Defense, the Information Program gives the student an opportunity to obtain a balanced understanding of the United States through personal contact and observation of our people and our governmental and cultural institutions.

The 1986 highlights of this program included weekends at Disney World/Epcot, Pensacola, a trip to an Atlanta Braves baseball game, a four-day trip to Washington, D.C., and numerous visits to New Orleans and other local areas.

The Sponsor Program further enriches the students experience. Volunteer Navoceano employees sponsor a student to give him or her a personal contact in the United States. They take the student home for dinner, out to movies or other activities, and treat them as they would friends or family in an effort to make them feel welcome and to help them adjust to American culture.

In addition to three U.S. students, the 1986 graduating class included students from Burma, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Egypt, Sudan, Iceland, Kenya, Korea, Malaysia, Morocco, Taiwan, Thailand, and Tunisia.

All graduated with honors at formal ceremonies at the Diamondhead Country Club where they were honored with a buffet dinner and farewell party.

The next training class commences in April 1987.

Bay High Varsity defeats SSC

The Bay High Tigers outscored the St. Stanislaus Rockchaws 67-54 in varsity basketball action Monday night at the Bay Sr. High gym.

High scores for the Tigers were Greg Necaise with 20 points, and Robert Hargett with 17 points. John Kellar led SSC with 20 points, followed by Louis Schruoff with 15 points.

The Rockchaws led 35-30 at halftime, but Bay High came on strong in the third period to hold a 46-45 lead at the end of the third period.

Bay High was able to break the SSC press and tallied 21 points in the final period of play, while the Rockchaws could manage only nine points.

Both Bay High and SSC have 1-2 records in season play thus far.

The St. Stanislaus Junior Varsity was paced by Bert Dean's 16-point effort and defeated Bay High's Junior Varsity 52-20 in the preliminary contest Monday evening at Bay High.

SSC jumped out to a 10-4 first quarter lead, and led at halftime 24-10. Eight Rockchaws of Coach Jerry Spell scored points, with Shane Sigsworth adding eight points, and David Bast contributing seven points.

Roderick Harris led Bay High with six points, followed by Robert Elzy and Darrin Washington with four points each.

From the free throw line, SSC was 16 for 28, shooting 56%, while the Tigers were 0 for 10.

SSC held a 36-12 advantage going into the fourth quarter, with Jerry Fackrell, Andre Rollins, and C.J. Hazeur all scoring in the final period.

Coach Jerry Spell's Junior Varsity squad is 2-0 for the season.

PRC cagers open season with slim win over Utica

POPLARVILLE—The Pearl River College Wildcats gave new head coach Peter Georgian a 76-75 opening home divisional win over Utica here Thursday night.

The Lady Wildcats were not as successful, as the Lady Bulldogs posted a 64-50 decision to hand the PRC girls their third consecutive setback.

Pearl River's men jumped out to a 9-6 lead before the now 3-6 Bulldogs hacked away to take a 27-21 advantage midway through the first half.

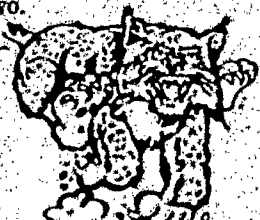

Picayune freshman Adrian McCray led a late half surge as PRC pulled even 44-44 at the horn. McRay hit for 16 points in the first 20 minutes and finished as the game's leading scorer with 25 points.

The Wildcats took the lead in the second half opening tip and never relinquished it. However, some poor ball handling and mental mistakes gave the Bulldogs an opportunity to pull out the contest with only one second on the clock.

The Wildcats, who led 13 points with six minutes to go, saw that margin diminish to 76-71 with 60 seconds left.

A steal by Andrea Young with 30 seconds left cut the margin to three, and then a turnover netted another quick two.

With seven seconds left, and PRC with the ball, a "Cat" was called for traveling. One second remained on the clock. It was enough time for Utica to get the ball in, but a 20-footer by Carl Moore was no good.

The Wildcats pushed their overall record to 2-1 and 1-1 in conference play. McCray had 25 points, John Walker, who was instrumental in the second half surge, netted 19 and Steve Bankston 11.

Young had 22 points for the Utica Bulldogs.

In the women's game, the outcome was pretty much never in doubt as the Lady Bulldogs, now 5-1, took a 33-21 halftime advantage and cruised in the second stanza.

Betty Vaughn led the Lady Bulldogs with 19, while PRC's Gail Hill hit for the same number. Kim Ray scored 10 points.

newsletter of the state-federal cooperative program for red drum research in the gulf

COOPERATIVE CONFERENCE

Over 75 researchers and others interested in the status of the red drum effort attended the State-Federal Cooperative Program for Red Drum Research in the Gulf of Mexico.

The conference was hosted on Oct. 14 by the Gulf States' Marine Fisheries Commission during its annual fall meeting in New Orleans.

Twelve presentors from state agencies, universities and NMFS summarized red drum research to date within areas of stock identification, age and growth, stock assessment and fishery-independent assessment development.

STOCK ASSESSMENT

The NMFS Mississippi Laboratories and Mississippi Bureau of Marine Resources in cooperation with biologists from Louisiana State University, Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries and Gulf Coast Research Laboratory have tagged and released over 5,800 adult red drum taken from 14 schools in the north central Gulf of Mexico.

Tagging operations have been temporarily halted and are planned to resume in early 1987. Tag returns by early November numbered nearly two dozen. NMFS has provided a computer listing of tags out, including release site and date, to all cooperators.

A special publication covering types and tags utilized and techniques is under preparation. Video tapes showing a general overview of the offshore tagging operation and details of state tagging efforts are in production.

—Andy Kemmerer and Fred Deegen

STOCK IDENTIFICATION

The Gulf Coast Research Laboratory has begun a project to assess migrations and abundance of various life stages of red drum in Mississippi Sound. By mid-November over 100 postlarval red drum 5.0-55.0 mm had been taken by Renfro beam trawls and seines from four selected estuarine systems.

Larger fish are expected to begin appearing in gill and trammel net samples in December. Eleven red drum, estimated to be year-class I fish, have been tagged with internal anchor tags, with one return reported.

—Tom McIlwain

Florida Department of Natural Resources biologists are nearing completion of this fall's tagging of sub-adult red drum (12"-30" in Tampa Bay. Each spring and fall, beginning in 1984, biologists have tagged and released 300 fish into the bay system.

The Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries has begun statewide tagging of red drum. By mid-November 150 fish from inshore waters had received internal anchor tags and notice provided to area fishermen. Tagging operations in Louisiana estuaries will continue through the winter months.

—Joey Shepard

FISHERY-INDEPENDENT ASSESSMENTS

The NMFS Mississippi Laboratories has essentially completed an aerial survey of red drum schools from Key West, Florida to Brownsville, Texas. Greatest concentrations were noted off Louisiana and eastern Texas.

Many of the aerial sightings were substantiated by ground-truth data from pre-quota fishing and offshore tagging operations. Data on school sightings will be used to develop estimates of minimum abundance in early 1987.

—Andy Kemmerer

SSC 7th-8th Grade split with St. John

In junior high basketball action Monday, the St. Stanislaus Rockchaw 7th Grade basketball team defeated St. John 25-15, while the Rocks' 8th Grade team fell to the Eagles 24-18.

Mickey Quinlan led the 7th Grade Rockchaws with 8 points and 12 rebounds, while Kendall Daniels scored seven points, and Stephen Schruft contributed six points.

There were several turnovers by both teams in the contest. SSC held a 12-7 lead at halftime, but St. John closed the margin to three points at the end of the third quarter as SSC maintained a 14-11 advantage.

In the 4th Quarter, the Rocks exploded for eight quick points to put the game out of reach for the Eagles.

Coach Eddie Burgo credited the inside play of Quinlan, and the playmaking of Kendall Daniels and Stephen Schruft. Jason Loiacano also had a strong rebounding effort for the Rockchaws.

Leading scorer for St. John was Jeff Patton with eight points.

The 7th Grade Rockchaws are 2-0, while the St. John Eagles fell to 0-1 for the season.

In the 8th Grade game, the Rocks enjoyed a 2-0 lead at the end of the first quarter, with Chris Johnson netting the only basket.

St. John found the hoop in the second quarter, outscoring the Rocks 10-4 to take a 10-5 lead at halftime.

Good rebounding efforts by Galen Smith and Billy Saunders kept the Rocks close in the third quarter, but the Rocks still trailed 14-10.

SSC made a strong surge in the fourth quarter as Manning Montagnet hit two quick jump shots to close the gap to within two points with :57 seconds left.

St. John secured the victory with clutch free throw shooting to take a 24-18 decision.

BLOCKED SHOT—St. Stanislaus Rock player John Kellar (23) gets a hand on a shot by Bay Senior High's Greg Necaise in Monday's match at the Bay High gymnasium. Also in on the play are Bay players Robert Hargett and Dwayne Robertson. Rocks adding to the action are Louis Schruft and Josh Bowls (12). Final score of the game was Bay 67, Rocks 54. ## Bay Area Youth Soccer lists Nov. 8 play results

Under-12 Girls (Kingspoint Field, Slidell, La.)

The Kid Company Gators faced a tough Slidell Stinger team this week. As with many games, the final score did not reflect how tough the girls actually played. At times the Gators may have felt out-sized, but they played like giants during the whole game.

Renée LeBourgeois and Kristen Selle combined speed with good moves on the offense to keep pushing the Stingers back. The most aggressive player on the Gator defense this week was Conaille Thomas as she consistently made her presence known. Gator coach Toni Doney also cited Marcelle Williams, Melody Probst and Kay Kennedy for a good job on defense and for showing much improvement during the season.

The match with the Stingers two weeks ago on Oct. 25 also requires mentioning. Even though the Gators were beat, an anonymous official stated after the game that the Gators dominated the ball 75 percent of the time. The Gators just could not get any goals to drop.

From that game coach Doney recognizes Megan Uram and Wendy Kingston for outstanding offense as sweepers, and Kim Brashier for her dynamic defensive plays. The entire Gator team is to be congratulated for playing hard and not giving up. The coming spring season brings promise of more good play.

Troop 217 takes Ship Island trip

Scouts of Troop 217, sponsored by Our Lady of the Gulf Parish and Pere LeDuc Council 1522 Knights of Columbus of Bay St. Louis, recently traveled in a 42-foot yacht owned and operated by John Breeden, a member of the Knights of Columbus, to Ship Island.

After a smooth ride, the scouts and leaders visited Fort Massachusetts and swam in the Gulf.

After lunch, all reboarded the yacht for a trip to East Ship Island and an overnight camp-out on the island. A small boat was used to ferry the troop equipment ashore. Soon the tents were up and the Scouts were off exploring the island. The rest of the day the Scouts swam and fished.

For supper the Scouts had a fish fry served by Head Cook Benny McCollister.

Later the Scouts had a great campfire on the beach and to top off the night, McCollister served the Scouts beignets and milk.

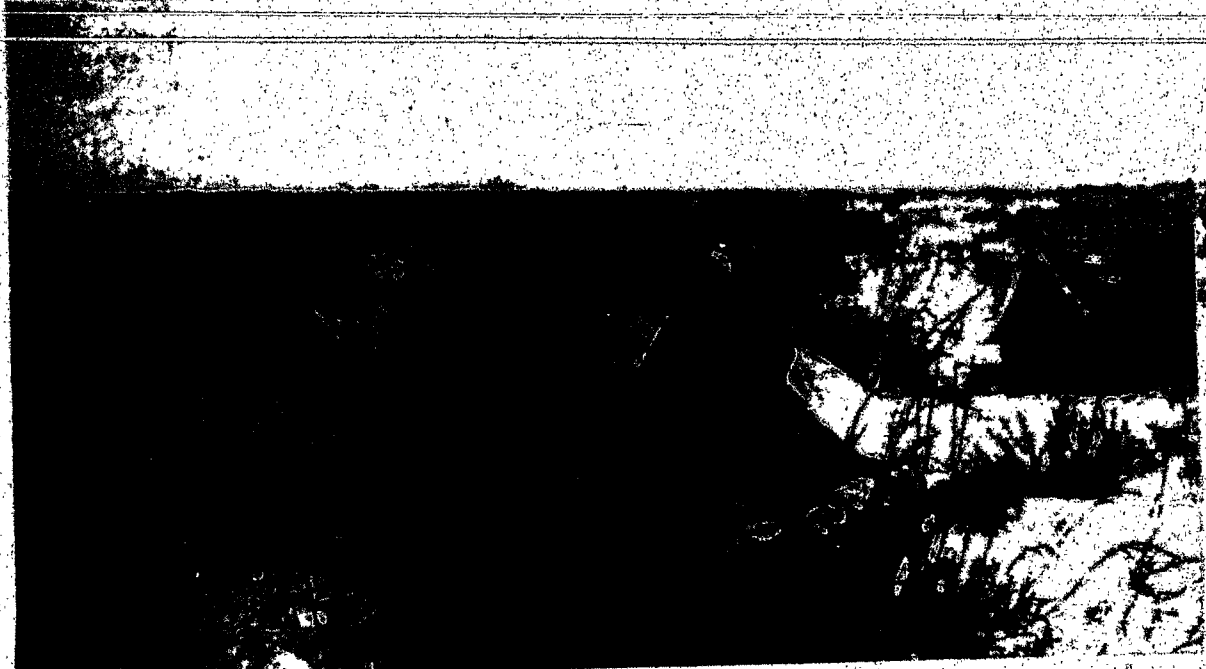

On the next morning Breeden went to Biloxi to pick up Father Charles Venus who celebrated Mass under a tent fly on the beach. After Mass and lunch, the Scouts took Father on a hike to explore the island.

In October the Troop made a three-day camp-out and in November they will go for a two day camp-out to Flint Creek near Wiggins. In December the Troop will make a four-day trip to Shilo, Tenn. during the Christmas holidays.

Any boy 11 years or older can join in on the fun by coming to a meeting. Troop 217 meets each Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the K.C. Hall, 315 Main St., Bay St. Louis. Call 452-7540 for information.

FISHING—Troop 217 Head Cook Benny McCollister casts a net while scouts Steve Tomlin and Dwayne Bremen watch.

READY FOR NIGHT—Boy Scouts Roy Masson, left, and Matthew Carver inspect tents that are pitched and ready for an overnight camp-out on Ship Island.

AOA taps Kim Huch

Kim Marie Huch, daughter of Oliver and Jewell Huch of Long Beach, has been chosen for membership in Beta Chapter of Alpha Omega Alpha at University of Tennessee in Memphis.

Alpha Omega Alpha is an honorary medical society that recognizes distinguished performances in medical studies.

Huch will receive her MD degree in June 1987. She is a graduate of Ole Miss and Long Beach High School.

ISLAND MASS—Father Charles Venus celebrates mass under a tent flap for Troop 217 members visiting Ship Island.

Diamondhead Academy scores high on CAT

Diamondhead Academy, in its second year, in California Achievement Test scores averaged in the 94th percentile with several students posting scores in the 99th percentile.

Since the school classes are small they are able to take advantage of unique opportunities. The fourth, fifth, and sixth grades were studying maps and charts and they were able to take a day trip on a boat and see a practical use of their studies that was fun too.

Diamondhead Academy also offers nursery care for children two and over, from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. at prearranged times.

Nursery service is not restricted to Diamondhead Academy students. For more information about either Diamondhead Academy or the nursery, call the school at 265-1784.

HNC Student Council schedules benefit events

Hancock North Central Student Council is sponsoring a Winter Carnival Dec. 6 to raise money for the Rebekah Kennedy Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Since she was respected and loved by students, parents, and other members of the community, we will try to make this a county-wide event, a student council spokesman said.

The scholarship fund will provide money for HNC students to go to college.

On the same day, the council will conduct a blood drive at the same place to help replenish the low blood supply which the state is facing.

Since most students will not be able to give blood because of the age limit (17 or above), we are asking that each student recruit family members and friends to come and give blood in the student's name. Each student will be given pledge cards to use to recruit donors.

The two events are scheduled from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., and will include games.

"If this undertaking is to be a success, we'll need the cooperation of all students and friends. Let's all get into the spirit of the Christmas season and try to make this event a great success," the spokesman said.

Bay High DECA members visit Washington, D.C.

Bay High Chapter, Distributive Education Clubs of America, attended a national convention in Washington, D.C. on Nov. 7, 8 and 9.

Eleven students and their advisor reported that they enjoyed having the opportunity to learn about DECA, the nation's capitol, life in Washington, and people from other states.

Their favorite workshop was "Explosion with DECA."

A spirit rally with 4,000 students participating was impressive, they reported.

Among the sightseeing experiences, students reported that they learned the most about the Vietnam Veterans' Memorial.

Those who traveled to Washington include Bridget Baum, Christy Bilbo, Tanya Layne, Dilyea Marcantel, Robert McCall, Julie Mount, John Perkins, Daenell Poteet, Julie Sellier, Bitsy Trombley, Keeli Wrensted, and Mrs. Wendy Rupp, Advisor.

Local student is new pledge sororities recognized on the Ole Miss campus. Ms. Seghers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Seghers of Bay St. Louis.

STUDENT HONOR—Rory King of Hancock North Central High School is the Hancock County Exchange Club's October Student of the Month. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne King.

EAGLE SCOUTS—David M. East Jr., son of David East Sr. and Mary East of Diamondhead, has been designated an Eagle Scout. East is a member of Boy Scouts of America Troop 66 of New Orleans, La., and is a junior at St. Stanislaus. The Order of the Eagle was awarded to him at an Oct. 21 honor court. ## Thriffiley's role at PRC profiled

By Larry L. Stanford
Pearl River College

When James Thriffiley became chairman of the Pearl River College Board of Trustees back in January, he took the appointment seriously. Very seriously.

The appointment as head of Mississippi's pioneer junior college board came as no surprise to those who know him.

If Thriffiley is a part of any institution or organization he's no figurehead--no idle bystander--he's actively participating.

Thriffiley, who represents Hancock County on the PRC board, is also director of guidance and science coordinator at St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis.

"Pearl River College is the best educational bargain in the world," said Thriffiley, who is also serving a third term as a member of the Bay St. Louis City Council.

"Students can attend Pearl River College and get excellent academic instruction for the freshman and sophomore years or one or two-year training in the vocational-technical areas," Thriffiley said.

"And it's in an environment where students are individuals and not just numbers; where students can develop almost a one-on-one relationship with well qualified instructors."

Thriffiley is convinced that the Mississippi public junior college system is the best in the nation. "The junior colleges meet the needs of all our citizens here in the state."

"Record attendance will show that citizens of Mississippi are recognizing the value of our community college system," Thriffiley said.

The Bay St. Louis educator said that from a parent's point of view, they have to appreciate the fact that their child will not be lost in the academic extra-curricular arena when attending PRC.

Thriffiley has spent 21 years at St. Stanislaus, a school with a long tradition of academic excellence. In 1985, the PRC board chairman was selected a Mississippi Star Teacher--an honor for any instructor.

But the 1985 award was even more rewarding for Thriffiley because his son, James T. Thriffiley IV, was the Star Student and Valedictorian and it was Jim IV who picked his dad for the honor that year. A double type of compliment for the senior Thriffiley.

He was honored for his educational excellence. He was honored for his outstanding traits as a father. "That was a real thrill for me," Thriffiley said.

For years now Thriffiley has been senior sponsor at St. Stanislaus. He has seen hundreds of graduates come through the system and go on to rewarding careers throughout the world.

And all you have to do to see the impact, or maybe the better word is feel the impact of his guidance, is to look around his office in the modern high school building overlooking the Bay.

His bookshelf is filled with mementos, with plaques, with memories of those who passed through the system and wanted to leave something behind to show their appreciation.

That same enthusiasm for education is spilling over into the Pearl River College system.

And even though Jim Thriffiley is not as readily known on the River campus, his involvement in school policies and functions are upbeat and positive and will have a lasting effect on PRC's present students, as well as its future students.

During the regular January meeting of the Pearl River Board of Trustees, Jim Thriffiley became the chairman. He took over just at the time the PRC board was to search for and select the school's ninth president.

Participating in the selection process was a real challenge for me," Thriffiley said. "The board worked long and hard in its search and in its final selection."

"Dr. Ted J. Alexander is going to be an outstanding president for Pearl River College," Thriffiley said. "I can see he is going to pick up where Dr. Marvin R. White left off."

Thriffiley was also very complimentary of former president White.

"Dr. White did an outstanding job for Pearl River College," Thriffiley said.

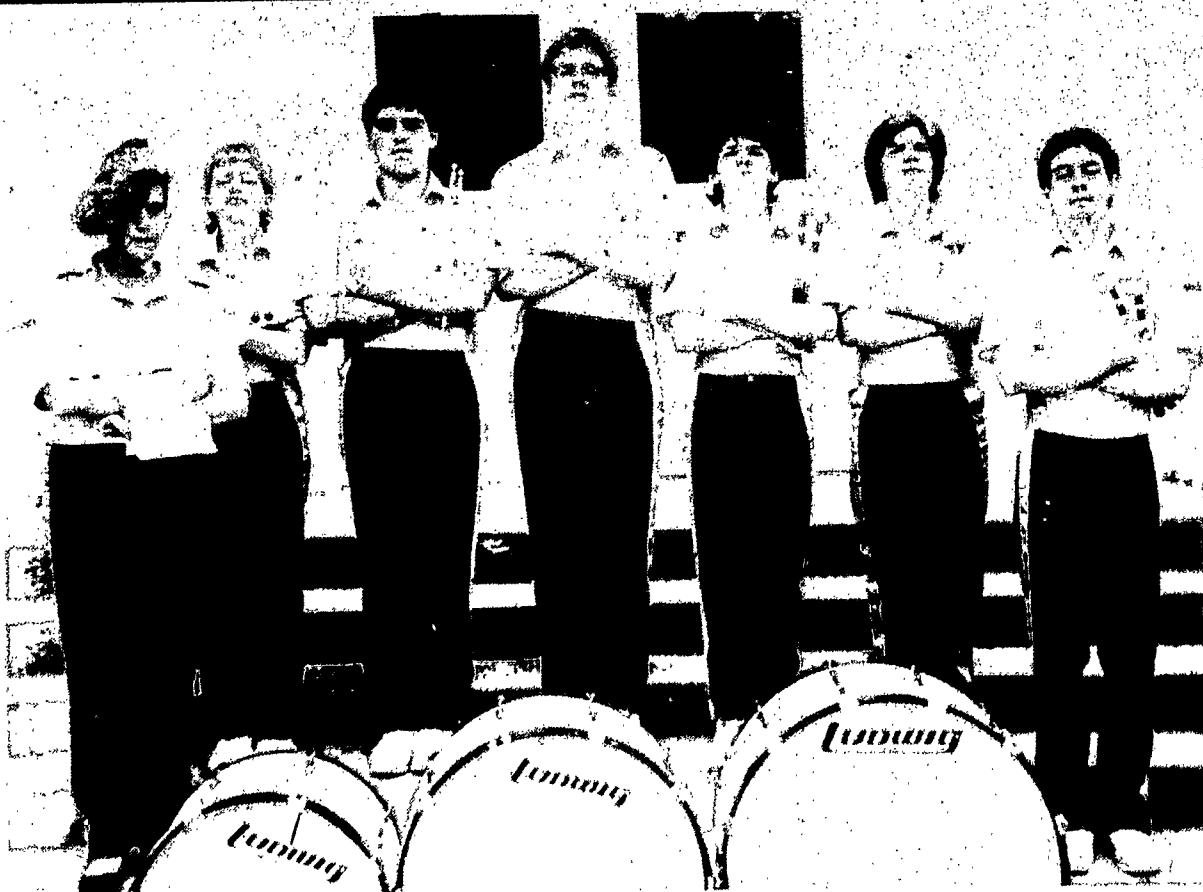

"Not only did he work tirelessly for the growth and betterment of PRC, he kept the college in the forefront here in the state and in the nation. He never let anyone forget that Pearl River College is the pioneer junior college of Mississippi."

Thriffiley is the kind of chairman who stays abreast of happenings at the college. He was instrumental in putting together a "M. R. White Appreciation Dinner" and he took an active part in the retirement activities for Dean Enoch Seal Jr., a PRC faculty member for more than 35 years.

He has also been very visible at

Committee scrutinizing public school funding system

Mississippi's system of funding public schools will come under the scrutiny of a 9-person study committee composed of educators, legislators and a member of the state board of education.

The committee, funded by a grant from the National Conference of State Legislatures, will attempt to determine the minimum level of funding necessary for quality education in all school districts.

"By looking at our current funding formula, we hope the committee will be able to recommend changes which will provide adequate financial support for all Mississippi public schools," said Dr. Richard Boyd, state superintendent of education.

"We are now asking our public school districts to implement the programs enacted in the Education Reform Act. Some of these programs require more money to implement than is available in some of our school districts."

"All Mississippi schoolchildren should have equal access to a quality education, no matter where they live. It is my hope, and the hope of all concerned with our public school system, that this committee will recommend a new financing formula which guarantees this opportunity."

The committee began meeting in October and is expected to have a recommendation by next February.

The committee is composed of three state senators, three state representatives, two local school district superintendents, and one member of the state board of education.

Members are Senator Jack Gordon of Okolona; Senator Bill Minor of Holly Springs; Senator Bob Montgomery of Canton; Representative Robert Clark of Lexington; Representative Tommy Walman of McComb; Representative Glen Endris of Biloxi; Dr. Dwight Shelton, superintendent of the Pascagoula Municipal Separate Schools; Rodney Sessions, superintendent of the West Jasper Consolidated Schools; and James E. Price, Jr., state board of education.

Alternate members of the committee are Senator Irb Benjamin of Rienzi; Senator Rob Smith of Richland; and Representative Rick Fortenberry of Meridian.

Coast Junior College offers vocational courses

Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College is offering seven evening vocational programs this semester at its West Harrison County Center near Long Beach.

Sam Kirsch, dean of the center, said students may register each Monday for classes in auto mechanics, auto body repair, metal trades, cooking and baking, industrial drafting, industrial electricity and clerical/word processing.

Classes are in session from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday. Financial aid, loans and scholarships are available to students who qualify. Some veterans are eligible to attend under the G.I. Bill, which expires in 1990, Kirsch said.

For information, contact the center at 863-6057.

Pass Christian schools observe bus safety

The Pass Christian Municipal Separate School District observed National School Bus Safety Week during the current term.

All schools in the district displayed safety posters reminding students and adults of safe transportation practices.

Additional safe practices will be observed as students will be trained during the year on bus evacuation drills. In addition, bus drivers have had instruction this year in fire extinguisher use through the help of Chief George Mixon of the Pass Christian Fire Department.

According to Robert White, transportation supervisor, safety is an ongoing process and will be emphasized through out the year. White stressed that many adult drivers forget that yellow caution lights indicate that the bus is slowing to stop.

Red lights and the stop arm means students are loading and unloading and no vehicles are permitted to pass.

Yellow hazard lights indicates that the bus is stopping at a railroad crossing.

School Bus safety is everyone's responsibility, according to White.

IN YOUR POCKETBOOK.

The New Delchamps has pricing that's absolutely lower on every item, every day. It means we're doing business in a whole new way. A more honest way.

It's called Everyday Minimum Pricing, and it means Delchamps customers have already discovered they have the minimum total food bill every week.

EVERYDAY MINIMUM PRICING ABSOLUTELY LOWER PRICING!

At the New Delchamps we don't have weekly specials. We don't have double coupons, games or gimmicks—they just keep your total food bill high. We DO have pricing that's absolutely lower on every item, every day. So you get the minimum total food bill. Every week.
